

FX REMEDIATION ENACTMENT

This notice serves to formally inform you that your trading account carries an unresolved FX hedging fee. These charges are essential for managing the currency risks associated with your high-volume, multi-currency trading activities and have not been processed alongside prior settlements. Given the dynamic and fluctuating nature of your trading balance, hedging costs must be addressed as a separate financial obligation and cannot be drawn from the active trading stream. Failure to maintain adequate FX hedging coverage exposes your account to substantial market risk and constitutes non-compliance with our account operation standards. Immediate settlement of the outstanding fee is required to avoid potential suspension of trading privileges or other compliance enforcement actions. A detailed statement of the charges is available upon request.

